ENGLAND GIVES AN ANSWER

AGREES WITH THE UNITED STATES

Refuses the Terms of the German Note—Lord Salisbury Made the Reply in Terms Identical With Those of the Washington Reply—Officials Were Inclined to Believe That England Would Side With Germany—Negotiations May be Broken Off.

By Wire to The Telegram.

London, Sept. 26.—The attempt of the London Times and other European papers to distinguish between the views and proposals of the German note, and their endeavor to lay stress on certain parts of the proposal, without any attention to what Germany considered preliminary negotiations, is pronounced here utterly at variance with the contributions of these papers on the note when it was first made public.

ENGLAND WITH US.

London, Sept. 25.—Lord Salisbury has replied to the German note in terms identical with those of the United States' reply. The British Premier's decision to refuse to agree to the terms of the German note was communicated verbally to the German ambassador here during the course of a long interview this afternoon. The decision is not known here, and the exclusive information of the Associated Press probably will not be officially given out in England until the reply is out on paper and transmitted to Berlin, which may be tomorrow or later. Only few officials are cognizant of what Lord Salisbury said to the German minister in regard to the latest development in the Chinese question. Official circles here were inclined to believe that Lord Salisbury would agree with Germany. But, instead of doing so, he used almost exactly the terms in which Washington's refusal was couched and this, said a high official to a representative of the Associated Press, "is all the more surprising, considering that the Washington officials had not the slightest inkling of what England's attitude would be."

What will be the result of this difference of view between the United States and Great Britain on one side and Germany, Austria, France, and Italy on the other? No official was found by the representative of the Associated Press who was willing to risk an opinion, although they agreed in believing that it did not entail a breaking off of the negotiations.

RAW RECRUITS.

A Batch of New Soldiers Sent Away From the Greensboro Station.

Recruiting at Capt. Vance's Greensboro office continues very good, scarcely a week passing but that several new soldiers are not sent off to the army. Today the following left:

Richard E. and Charles H. Smith, of Greensboro and Willie P. Gilbert, of Siler City, for Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to join the heavy artillery; George N. Slaughter, of Mt. Airy, for Fort Fremont, S. C., where he will join Battery E. of the Second Artillery, and William D. Evans, of Fort Schuyler, N. Y. The latter has been off without a leave of absence and is returning to his post.

THE DOG SHOW.

Entries Will Soon Close—Exhibits Will be Good.

Mr. William Tallman stated today that entries for the dog show at the Fair would soon close, and that all who intedded to make any exhibits should enter them at once. The exhibit of setters and pointers, Mr Tallman said, would be first-class and well up in numbers and quality to that of some of the Kennel club shows.

Space for benching the dogs has been assigned in the west end of Exhibition Hall. A yard for judging and exercising will be provided outside. Every possible care will be taken for the safety and comfort of the animals. Trustworthy attendants will be on hand day and night.

Play by Amateurs During Fair Week.

A play and concert by amateurs will be presented in the Academy of Music one night during Fair week. The best local dramatic and musical talent will take part in the performance, further particulars of which will be announced in a few days.

HOWARD MUST DIE.

Another of Goebel's Murderers Brought to Justice.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept 26.—Jim Howard, who has been on trial here, charged with being implicated in the murder of the late Governor Goebel, was this morning found guilty of murder in the first degree.

The jury fixed the penalty at death. It is said that the first ballot stood 10 to 2 in favor of conviction. The verdict was reached after 45 minutes' deliberation. Howard heard it unmoved

THREE MEN WOUNDED.

Bloodshed Laid to Striking Miners Near Scranton.

By Wire to The Telegram.

The first bloodshed that may be laid to the striking miners occurred today at the Sibleyn mining settlement, six miles from here. About 20 revolver shots were fired and three men were wounded.

The participants were all Italians, principally former workmen.

Expected Order for Troops Not Received.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 26—The expected order for troops to go to the Hazleton district had not been received by Gen. Gobin this morning, who made ready when informed that the sheriff had asked the Governor for troops The condition in this region is unchanged. All is quiet.

Scranton, Sept. 26—The strike at Lackawanna Valley remains practically unchanged.

Diaz Re-elected President of Mexico.

By Wire to The Telegram.

City of Mexico, Sept. 26.—The Congress of Mexico last night declared, as the result of the presidential election, that Gen Diaz was unanimously re-elected president of the Republic of Mexico.

PYTHIANS TO ENTERTAIN.

Will Look After Brother Knights Who May Visit Greensboro During the Fair.

The local Pythians are arranging to entertain their brother Knights who may visit Greensboro during the Fair. The matter has been taken up by Greensboro Lodge No. 80 and a committee now has the matter in charge. A report will be made at the lodge meeting next Monday night, when ways and means will be discussed and some definite plan decided upon. It is hoped that all the members of the lodge will be present at this meeting.

The Pythians are enthusiastic over the Fair and their actions show them to be interested in its success and willing to do their part in providing for the care and comfort of visitors.

It is probable that the members of some of the other fraternal orders will also entertain their visiting brethren during Fair week.

A Light Docket.

Everything was exceedingly quiet in the Police Court yesterday afternoon, only two cases appearing on the docket.

John Jackson, colored, was fined $7 for fast riding. A colored woman was knocked down by his horse.

E B. Williams, a colored barber on the Southside, was subjected to a fine of $3 for allowing slops to be thrown in front of his shop.

Married This Morning.

Rev. E. L. Stack, of this city, was married this morning to Miss Dora Lawrence, of Ramseur, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride.

THE BATTLE OF ELIZABETHTOWN

TABLET AT THE GUILFORD BATTLE

Erected in Memory of Captain James Morehead, Who Was a Leader in the Small Band of Whigs Who Routed the Tories at Elizabethtown and Freed the Lost from Their Cruel Dominion—Ruse of the Battle.

On exhibition in The Telegram office, awaiting to be placed on the monument lately put up at the Guilford Battle Ground, is a handsome bronze tablet, 16x20 inches, with the following inscription:

"1779–81 1900

To
Captain James Morehead,
of the 10th Regiment,
N. C. Continental Line.
Battle of Stono,
June 20th, 1779.
* * * *
Elizabethtown, July 1781.
Born 1750. Died 1885."

It is a first-class piece of work, made by Burean Bros., of Philadelphia. The stone on which the tablet will be placed stands between the small and large pavillions on the Battle Ground. The tablet and stone are put up by Col. Jas. T. and Joseph M. Morehead and Capt. R. P. Gray. Capt. Morehead was a great uncle of the first two gentlemen and a great-great uncle of Capt. Gray. He rendered conspicuous service in the battle of Elizabethtown, of which battle Wheeler says:

"It was fought in July 1781; the friends of liberty were led on by Thomas Brown, and the Tories commanded by Cols. Slingsby and Godden. The situation of the county was deplorable. The Tories had overrun every portion; their opponents had been driven out of the county, their homes ravaged, aud houses burned. About 60 had taken refuge in Duplin; hungry, naked, and homeless; exasperated to madness, they resolved to drive the Tories from their posts or die in the attempt. The Tories, to the number of about three hundred, had taken position at Elizabethtown. Colonel Brown and his brave men marched fifty miles through a wilderness, subsisting on jerked beef and scanty bread. They forded the Cape Fear, and at night (when the disparity of the force could not be perceived), made a furious onset on the Tories, drove in their guards, and after a bloody resistance, in which their commander Slingsby was mortally wounded and Godden killed, the Tories commenced a retreat; a large number rushed wildly over every obstacle and leaped into a deep gulley which has ever since borne the name of 'Tory Hole.'"

This brilliant affair ended the Tory power in Bladen.

It is to be hoped that some record more enduring may be procured that will present this battle in its true colors to prosperity. With every exertion there has been but little procured, but enough to show the chivalric daring of its leaders, and the firmness of the sons of Bladen.

And from a letter published in the Raleigh Independent about 1844, we clip this account of the ruse with which the battle was opened:

"Your correspondent's narrative is, no doubt, correct as to the advance of the Whigs, under cover of night, their forming in the rear of what was then called the King's Road, driving in the outposts and sentries, and making the onset on the garrison. Here, his deficiency will be evident, when it is compared with the details which I am about to give.

"After the first volley, Col. Brown, with six officers, who for the want of a more appropriate word, may be termed his staff, and among whom were those gallant spirits, Owen Morehead and Robeson, took a central position, as previously arranged; and the main body rushed to a point, at a specified distance, on his right, and reloaded with almost inconceivable rapidity. The words of command were then heard in loud and distinct tones. On the right! Col. Dodd's company! Advance! (No such officer, and no such company being present.) The main body advanced and fired, wheeling, rushed to a point to the left, and reloaded as before; and the order was given in the same audible voice. On the left! Col. Gillespie's company! Advance! (No such officer, and no such company being present.) The main body advanced and fired. Again. On the right! Col. Dickinson's company! Advance! (The same fiction being repeated.) The main body advanced and fired, and wheeling, rushed to the designated point. Again. On the left! Major Wright's company! Advance! (The same fiction being repeated.) The main body advanced and fired.

"This ruse de guerre was carried on until the Whig band was multiplied into ten or eleven companies. It succeeded in making an impression on the garrison that it was attacked by a body of one thousand strong, led on by experienced officers."

It is to be hoped that some citizen of that section of the State will take up the bits of history scattered here and there, which tell so much of North Carolina patriotism and valor, and make them accessible to the people. In no section of the whole State did the Whigs suffer worse than in this, and no history deserves more to be commemorated. The sufferings put upon these people may be found by a reference to volumes 14 and 15 of the State Records.

KISSED THE GROUND.

A Raw Recruit Takes an Early Start at "Roughing It."

George N. Slaughter, a young white man who came down from Mt. Airy to enlist in the army, was at the passenger station last night when the northbound fast mail came in, between 10 and 11 o'clock. Following the natural bent of his curiosity, he boarded the train and was gazing on the splendor of a modern and up-to-date passenger car, when it began to move. The raw recruit was afraid to jump from the platform, yet he knew it would never do to leave Greensboro so unceremoniously.

Visions of arrest and court-martial filled his mind, while the speed of the moving train increased with every moment. Feeling that something must be done, the recruit closed his eyes, gritted his teeth and jumped into the air. He landed on his head, breaking the bridge of his nose, knocking out two teeth and bruising his face generally, to say nothing of dislocating three fingers and spraining his wrist.

A physician patched him up, and when seen at the station today the fellow allowed that he "was slightly disfigured, but still in the ring."

THE WONDERS OF NIAGARA.

Newspaper People Take an Extended Excursion to This Interesting Point.

About 75 members of the North Carolina Press Association passed here today enroute to Niagara Falls and other points of interest. The party was in charge of Secretary John B. Sherrill, of the Concord Times, and occupied a Pullman car attached to train No. 36.

The Greensboro people who joined the excursion were Rev. Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stone and Prof. P. P. Claxton.

In addition to Niagara, some of the excursionists will visit Toronto, Canada, New York and other places. The members of the party expect to be absent from one to two weeks.

ENGINEER PALMER KILLED.

Jumped From the Cab and Was Caught Under a Car of Another and Crushed.

Special to the Charlotte News.

Lenoir, Sept. 25.—Engineer John Palmer was killed here at 6:30 this morning by an accident on the Carolina and Northern Railroad. A train loaded with lumber was being pulled toward Lenoir with two engines. Engineer Palmer was in the cab of the front engine. This engine jumped the track. Engineer Palmer jumped from the cab, and was caught under one of the cars loaded with lumber and instantly killed. His brains were crushed out and his body was badly mangled.

Fireman Williams also jumped, but was uninjured, A negro train hand was slightly injured. The engine and three cars were wrecked.

GREAT GATHERING IN RALEIGH.

MEETING OF THE DEMOCRATIC CLUBS

F. D. Winston Made Permanent Chairman—A Strong Delegation Elected to the National Convention in Indianapolis—Splendid Speeches by Democratic Standard Bearers—Reunion of Clubs Tonight.

Special Dispatch to the Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—The State Convention of Democratic Clubs was held here today in Metropolitan Hall. It was called to order at noon by Francis D. Winston, who conducted the work of organizing "White Supremacy" Clubs in the last campaign for the State Committee, and who will perfect the permanent organization. The convention effected a permanent organization by electing a president, nine vice-presidents, a secretary and three assistant secretaries. It next elected delegates and alternates to the National Association of Democratic Clubs, which meets at Indianapolis October 3–5.

Tonight the delegates to the convention will join the clubs of Raleigh in a grand rally, which several gentlemen invited will address. The speakers invited to address the convention and the mass meeting are Governor-elect Aycock, Elector-at-Large Dan Hugh McLean and Lee S. Overman, also E. W. Pou, Congressional candidate in this district, and B. C. Beckwith, elector for this district. Mr. Pou is sick and unable to attend.

ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

F. D. Winston, of Bertie county, was made permanent chairman of the convention, and E. B. Lewis, of Kinston, secretary. The following vice-presidents were elected: B. B. Winborne, W. R. Allen, W. P. Murchison, A. K. Smith, H. A. Foushee, Cameron Morrison, W. P. Huffman.

The following were elected delegates to Indianapolis: J. B. Lee, Donnell Gilliam, C. E. Foy, C. F. Johnson, W. B. McConn, George L. Peschau, J. P. Cook, E. Y. Webb, Louis Bourn, R. A. Doughton and John S. Cunningham.

The executive committee is composed of H A. London, W. R. Allen, H. A. Foushee, W. B. Snow and F. W. Stedman.

The convention returned a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Winston for his great work in organizing white supremacy clubs.

Fifty delegates were present, representing about sixty clubs.

CHICAGO NEWSBOY'S SUICIDE.

He Took the Villain's Part In a Play in a Barn and Afterward Hanged Himself.

Chicago Dispatch, 23rd

Homeless, almost friendless, half starving, a boy committed suicide last night by hanging himself to a rafter in the hay loft of a barn in the rear of 401 Clark street. He was known to his companions as "Red Top." A few minutes before, a play had been in progress in a barn, for admission to which the boys of the neighborhood charged two pennies. The play was called "Red Eric's Revenge," and was written by "Red Top" himself. The scene was laid in a Chicago ghetto. The villain's part was taken by "Red Top," the climax of the play being the suicide of the villain, and thunderous applause greeted his exit from the world.

"Boys," said "Red Top," coming to the front of the little stage in answers to the cheers, "this is only fun; dere'll be a real tragedy here bimeby."

Half an hour later Sammy Sternberg went into the loft and found "Red Top's" body hanging to the rafter, under which he had committed a stage suicide previously, by taking theatriprussic acid. "Red Top's" identity was unknown on Clark street. He said he never remembered having a father or mother and never knew any name but the nickname under which he sold papers. The Harrison street police have taken an interest in the case and are trying to find out something about the lad's parentage. The newsboys have taken up a subscription, and their comrade will not be buired in Potter's field.

Fayetteville street, at its intersection with South Elm street, received attention from the street force today. As mentioned in The Telegram a few days ago, the place was in bad condition, but a "stitch in time" improved it a good deal.

THE A. & A. TO BE EXTENDED.

MORE RAILROAD DEVELOPMENTS.

Republican Congressional Nominee in the Second District May Decline the Empty Honor--Reward for Negro Murderer. Republican Paper to be Established in Raleigh--Governor Russell Wil Practice Law in Wilmington When His Term of Office Expires.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 26 —The Aberdeen and Asheboro Railway has begun the construction of a branch, five miles in length, from West End to Jackson's Springs, in Moore county. A company has secured a controlling interest in the springs property and will build a spacious and elegant hotel there, which will be one in the chain of which Pinehurst, Southern Pines and Carthage are other links. Next week the company will be incorporated. Among its members are Messrs. Henry and Frank Page and William J. Hicks, Jr. It is quite an important development for Greensboro, this development of these fine springs.

The Pinehurst business is important in the winter. Last winter the Southern Railway got four-fifths of it. This year the Seaboard Air Line will naturally make a big contest for this travel.

Joe Martin, the Republican nominee for Congress from the Second district, has not yet decided whether to accept or reject the nomination. Of all empty honors it is about the emptiest. Of course he is a man of two much sense not to know this full well. He is postmaster at Tarboro and is in very poor health.

Governor Russell offers $200 reward for the arrest and conviction of "Boots" Brown, Raleigh's latest negro murderer. It is reported that two negro detectives know where Brown is and that they will quickly nab him. The men referred to are the ones who tracked Orange Page, the murderer, to Washington, N. C., after his bold escape from jail and recaptured him.

It seems that some at least of the negroes are planning to depart to Oklahoma. It is not known whether this movement will assume anything like the dimensions of an exodus, but it is said that next spring many negroes will take their departure.

It will be several days before the Supreme Court decides who of the forty-seven applicants shall get the coveted license to practice law. Two of the applicants were negroes. Chief Justice Faircloth prepared the questions, it being his turn.

The Supreme Court is at work on appeals from the First district. The clerk of the court says that on the entire docket at this term there are no cases of general importance or public interest.

Senator Butler was here a little while yesterday morning and saw some Republican friends. It is said he has completed his series of indignation meetings.

Among other arrivals here are Francis D. Winston, State organizer of Democratic clubs, who will devote a couple of weeks specially to that work; B. B. Winborne, judge of Bertie inferior court; William R. Allen, of Goldsboro; William A. Guthrie, of Durham, who has had an attack of fever; Congressman W. W. Kitchin, of Roxboro.

A farmer who came in today said: "Everything with feet and fingers is in the cotton fields. I never saw picking go on so fast."

There are now 57 inmates in the Soldiers' Home here. Of these 9 are in the hospital.

It seems that the Republicans are planning to establish a paper here. It appears that it is to be like the "Philistine," a "periodical of protest," for a veteran Republican says: "We are going to establish this paper because of the persistent interference of the postmaster at Raleigh and the United States marshal of the Western district. It will represent the old-line Repulicans, such stirring writers as A. W. Shaffer."

Eugene G. Harrell and his son, Jno. H. Harrell, write to relatives here that September 4th they arrived at Kobe, Japan, and left at once for Nayasaki, on the transport Warren. Both are clerks in the quartermaster's department, and were transferred from Havana to the far East. They expect to go to Taku, but may go to Manila instead.

The walls of the reading room of the State library are now so covered with portraits of North Carolinians that but little space is left.

Labor Commissioner Lacy, whose severe attack of asthma has been referred to, is convalescent. When his term of office expires in January, he will resume the practice of law in Wilmington, but will live at his farm in Brunswick county, across the river and quite near. No doubt he is sufficiently amused with politics and has had enough of it to last him Like the little boy who was given the watch to play with, he has "broken it open and seen all the works, but can't put them back again."

A LIFE AND DEATHG FIHT

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

CENTRAL CAROLINA FAIR.

"We have tried to remove the 'hog' from our midst, but the old timers have bucked against us and it looks now like they had us done for.

"Now we arise to a point of order. If the hog is a necessity, let us have a big show in swine at the Central Carolina Fair."

Gentlemen, bring out your fat specimens and get the prize. The date is October 9-12, inclusive.

One of our sister towns, not a hundred miles away, makes boast of so many hundred fine milch cows, so many hundred fine thorough bred pigs, and poultry in such quantities that they didn't stop to count them. Neighbors, bring the best pair of these to our Fair. We have a prize for the best. October 9-12 is the date.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. ATE LITERARY ASSOCIATION.

Organized in Raleigh to Promote Reading, the Production of Literature, and to Preserve Historical Material.

At a recent conference of ladies and gentlemen held in Raleigh it was determined to take steps for the organization of a State Literary and Historical Association. The undersigned were appointed a committee to prepare an address to the people of the State, setting forth briefly the purposes of such association and extending to all persons and organizations that may be interested an invitation to meet in the city of Raleigh on Tuesday night of Fair Week, October 23rd, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Agricultural Building.

The chief purposes of this association will be :

First—To promote the reading habit among the people of North Carolina.

Second—To stimulate the production of literature in our State.

Third—To collect and preserve historical material.

In carrying out these purposes the association will hope to aid in the improvement of our public schools, in the establishment of public libraries, in the formation of literary clubs, in the collection and republication of North Carolina literature worthy to be preserved and now rapidly passing away, in the publication of an annual record or bibliography of North Carolina literary productions, in the collection of historical material and the foundation of an historical museum, and in the correction of slanders, misrepresentations and other injustice done our State.

We are confident that much good can be accomplished by an association composed of even a few members who shall earnestly endeavor to promote these purposes. We therefore invite all, both ladies and gentlemen, who are interested in this movement to be present at the time and place above indicated, to take part in the conference that is to be held, and to enroll themselves as members of the association.

OPENING OF BINGHAM SCHOOL.

Letter from Mebane—A Nice Crowd in Attendance—Football Prospects—Protracted Meeting.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Mebane, Sept. 25.—Bingham School has had a gratifying opening and there has never been a nicer lot of boys than is in attendance this session. Every one, both teachers and students, are starting into the year's work with interest and good results are hoped for along every line. The different organizations of the school are well attended and the enrollment in each is full. At the first meeting of the Literary Societies the following were elected officers: Pesidents, Edwin Faylor and W. H. Peden; Vice-Presidents, Henry Davis and G. H. Croom; Secretaries and Treasurers, Harry Heath, W. W. Green and Alex. Clifton. The Young Men's Christian Association has enrolled every student in school as an active or associate member. The Athletic Association has been organized and at the first meeting W. H. Peden was elected President and Harry Heath Secretary and Treasurer. The students have settled down to their studies, and in the afternoon much interest is taken in football and tennis. Nearly every student may be seen on the gridiron daily taking part in the games or encouraging the players. Several good games have been scheduled and an interesting season is expected.

The reception to the Young Men's Christian Association, to be given by Principal and Mrs. Gray, is looked forward to with much pleasure, since these occasions have always afforded a delightful time to the students.

In about two weeks a protracted meeting will begin in Mebane at the Presbyterian church. The meeting will be held by Rev. E. C. Murray, assisted by Rev. Dr. Bradshaw, of Hillsboro.

The Romance of a Midsummer Luncheon in Town.

THE head waiter pressed a button in the wall and rose-colored electric bulbs blossomed like flowers upon the ceiling, filling the great dining-room with soft, still radiance and showing the white tables surrounded with ornate high-backed chairs, now eloquently empty. The air from the avenue stirred the lace that screened the open windows and made the blooming marguerites in great high tubs about the room move on their fragrant stems.

It was barbarously early for dinner, but ridiculously late for luncheon, but it had suited the mood of the man and the maiden who had met by accident and had been spending a delightfully unchaperoned day in town. Besides that there were trains to be taken back to a fashionable resort, where breakfasts, luncheons and dinners made such informal meetings as this quite impossible. So, as the girl said, it was all the more fun. They were not even dressed for dinner and the head waiter, who was punctilious in such matters, glanced somewhat disapprovingly at the girl's linen shirt waist and her bamboo hat with a pouf of blue, tilted down over her brows. The man was a well-dressed, well-tubbed specimen.

The room was almost deserted except for those two and the occasional cackle of a waiter was all that broke the silence except their own discreetly-lowered voices. A small East Indian man picturesquely turbaned and robed in white came toward their table bearing a chafing dish upon a silver tray from which he served them noiselessly with rice and chicken while a waiter poured wine into two pale greenish glasses. The service had all the dignity and importance of a rite.

The girl's face took on a look of intense satisfaction as she tasted the first morsel. As her sun-kissed hands moved over her plate the man thought that she was one of the few women who ate gracefully. As a rule, they were too nonchalant or too enthusiastic. But this girl's appetite had all the repression of a Duse.

"Isn't it funny?" she said.

"Funny?"

"Why, of course, it's too funny for anything! To think of our meeting, by accident, of all places, at church! Tell me—why do you go to church?"

"To kill time, I suppose. Then the music there is admirably good and the sermons—"

"Admirably short!"

"Exactly! Why did you go?"

"I always go. It's become a habit with me. But it is the very last place I should have expected to see you. It is a remarkable coincidence that we should have drifted there. Don't you think things happen oddly at times?"

"What kind of things?"

"Coincidences—for instance?"

"Please don't call our meeting a mere coincidence. I call it the result of an educated mind wave."

"Mind wave?"

"Yes—a brain current. You know in India—"

"That's where you go hunting lions, isn't it?"

"No—tigers in India."

"But you hunt lions, too—don't you?"

"Never have. I gave one a run once, though."

"Oh, how perfectly lovely! Tell me about it."

"It wouldn't interest you. You see, I was running first."

"Ha! ha! ha!"

"Funny, wasn't it? Well, in India, where they live on this sort of thing—rice and chicken—"

"And sauterne?"

"Er—well—no animal food—you understand—they get their souls cultivated to such an extent that they can communicate with each other across long distances."

"Anybody can?"

"Oh, you must be educated up to it. An American doesn't take to it as quickly, but the natives believe in it. It is a part of their religion. They can perform all sorts of magical tricks. I have no doubt that the man who cooks this—the little chap in the turban—talks without words."

"I noticed he didn't speak. And do you know—as he moved about so still and quiet—I felt—felt—"

"Jarred?"

"No—chilled—just as though I were under a spell. He has such mysterious eyes. Did you notice?"

"Never notice men's eyes. Waste of time."

"Ha! ha! ha! I wish he would come in again!"

"He probably will."

"Hush!"

"What?"

"Oh—here he comes! He has another dish."

"Good!"

"Don't let us pretend to notice. Yes, as you were saying, I quite agree with you, that the day has been a pleasant one—but what would people think if they came in and found us dining together—at five o'clock. I, in a sailor hat—you—"

"In a sailor hat also—"

"And Chappy—"

"Twenty miles away!"

"But if we hadn't met—sh-h! He's gone away! Never spoke a syllable. M—m—m! This is another of those soul foods! It's the same, but different! I wonder what it is?"

"Suppose we ask him?"

"No, it might break the spell. Look on the card. It must be there some place."

"Er—er—er— Here it is! 'The Curry of Enchantment.'"

"What do you think of that?"

"I think he's a wonder."

"But it is getting more mysterious, don't you think so?"

CHINA'S SECRET SOCIETIES.

The Leading Men Are Those Who Have Been Disappointed in Trying to Obtain Office.

The most important of those societies are known under the names of the "Trinity," the "Poignard," the "Pure Tea," the "Knife's Sect," the "Vemphar" and the most widely spread among the cultured classes is called "Heaven, Earth, Man," says a Paris paper.

The society of the Boxers is a branch from the "Closed Hand," and they must have been called so by some English sporting men residing in China. The mother society is one of those innumerable associations which exist in the Celestial empire, as there existed in Spain the "Black Hand," in Italy the "Carbonari," the "Mafia," the "Camorra," etc. China, with its dense population and democratic regime, is a benighted land for such associations. They disguise themselves under all kinds of inoffensive appearances, philanthropic, philosophic or utilitarian. Thus the "Closed Hand" claims to be merely a gymnastic association, without any religious or philosophic tendencies. It aims at a race war, a war of revenge, against the Manchus, the conquerors of China. But its branch, the Boxers, leaves to the future the settlement of that question, and aims at the destruction of the Europeans, whose infiltration into China is of more recent date and is sure, if unrestricted, to absorb and conquer peacefully the Chinese race as thoroughly as it has been subjugated by the Manchus.

These associations include all the disappointed men who have passed those examinations without which no office can be obtained in China, but which do not guarantee the holding of such offices, for there are more applicants than places. These are at the head of most of the secret societies. They teach to the uneducated members that the invasion of foreigners has caused the misery and want of work recently so prevalent in China.

Not Named in the Will.

When Duchenois, the great French actress, dieu some one met an old man who had been her intimate friend and who was apparently crushed with sorrow. Kindly meant professions of sympathy and consolation failed to cheer him, "for," said he, "it is not so much her loss which troubles me as her base ingratitude. Can you credit it? She left me nothing in her will, and yet I dined with her at her own house three times a week regularly for 30 years."

When the Hair Falls Out accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored splotches, swollen glands, aching muscles and bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease, the only antidote for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse. In the fall of 1897 I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, ulcers appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored splotches and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S., but must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. From that time on the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control; the sores and ulcers healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder; I have been strong and healthy ever since.

CUBA'S CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

In the late election of Cuban delegates to the constitutional convention, which meets November 5th, there were elected 18 Nationalists, 11 Republicans, and one Democratic Unionist, and one Independent. The two former parties, says the Philadelphia Record, are for absolute independence—the Nationalists having no stated programme of political action, while the Republicans favor a federal form of government. The single Democratic Unionist (whose party favors annexation of a protectorate) hails from Mantanzas, but as he was elected on a fusion ticket there could be no claim of constituent representation in his case. It is probable, however, that no strict party lines could be drawn which would classify the delegates to the forthcoming convention.

The Record thinks that the triumph of faction in the respective provinces, rather than a dominant desire for Cuban welfare, seems to have been the controling consideration in the popular choice of many of the delegates. On the question of the function of this convention the Record says:

It has been sturdily insisted in quarters that the proceedings and conclusions of this Cuban convention must be subject to control and revision by Federal authority, and the administration organs nearest to the seat of power have already marked out the programme which must be followed by the delegates—at the cost, it may be, of abdication of their representative character and functions. It would be a grim political jest, indeed, to set in motion the machinery to create an independent State and thereafter to take absolute control of its operations. Nothing of the sort was contemplated in the joint resolution of Congress which should control Federal administrative policy in this regard. It was there resolved that the Cuban people "are, and of right ought to be, free and independent;" and that the United States "disclaims any disposition or intention to exercisce soverignty, jurisdiction or control over said island except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination when that is accomplished to leave the control of the island to its people."

The government and control—those are the burdens which Federal power has been carrying in Cuba for nearly two years past, and for the assumption of which it is the mission of the constitutional convention at Havana to provide. Sovereignty and jurisdiction are not for us unless with the full consent of the representatives of the Cuban people. The Cubans must govern themselves as best they may, and this country is bound to keep hands off.

We can but wish that since we have gone into the expansion business we could expand ourselves around Cuba permanently, but this cannot be except by the consent of the Cubans. Our word is pledged against it, and our nation's word should be its sacred honor.

They Swapped.

A little boy in Bangor, Me., was suffering from a severe cold, and his mother gave him a bottle of cough mixture to take while at school. On his return she asked if he had taken his medicine. "No," he candidly replied, "but Bobby Jones did. He liked it, so I swapped it with him for a handful of peanuts."

Innuendo.

"Did you ever hear anything against his honesty?"

"No, suh," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkly. "But he eats chicken mighty reg'lar on Sunday, an he's allus got an umberell when it rains."—Washington Star.

TO DODGE HATTERAS.

The Government is Making a Survey to Determine the Cost of an Inland Ship Canal from Norfolk to Beaufort.

News and Observer.

The Government is now engaged in surveying the route for a proposed ship canal from Beaufort, N. C., to Norfolk, Va., by way of the Dismal Swamp Canal. It is to be of a depth of sixteen feet, so as to avoid the dangers of Hatteras, and to transport government supplies in naval ships, in case of war. The engineers are making estimates of cost of the work.

This is a work of the very greatest importance to the people of the eastern part of the State.

The survey began at two points under parties directed by United States engineers and well fitted out with necessary steam craft and apparatus.

The work in the North Carolina sounds is in charge of Assistant Engineer S. F. Burbank, who is stationed at Newbern, and Assistant Engineer Humphreys, of Wilmington. Engineer Humphreys has his headquarters at Roanoke Island and uses the steamer Mary Lily, with Captain Dave Roberts in command. His part of the survey work is Albemarle, Croatan and part of Pamlico sounds. Captain Burbank will survey the course in Pamlico sound and Core sound to Beaufort. He uses the steamer General Thomb, under command of W. B. Styron.

The surveys when completed will show the exact amount of work required to establish the 16-foot depth and estimates of the cost. The points at which a great deal of dredging will be required can be now indicated as these waters are very well known by navigators of this section.

The first big work is the deepening of the Dismal Swamp Canal. This is 11 miles long and has a depth of eight feet, and just twice this depth will be necessary. Then there are several points in Albemarle sound that will require dredging. Croton sound is the narrow body of water running by Roanoke Island, that connects the two big sounds, and it is ten miles long. At this sound from Roanoke Island light and a long stretch in Pamlico sound, to Long Shoal Point, seven miles in all, will require deepening. In Pamlico sound, at Bluff Shoal, opposite Ocracoke Inlet, there will be one mile of dredging. Much of Pamlico sound has a depth of 21 feet or over as the regular course of vessels will be followed. Core sound runs the rest of the way to Beaufort, and from Harbor Island bar in Core sound much deepening of the channel will be needed and a number of sharp bends will require to be straightened. In some places points of the marsh can be cut through to advantage.

His Double Fee.

Lawyer Smart—Good morning, Mr. Gull. What can I do for you today?

"I want to get your opinion on a matter of law."

"Yes."

"My hens got into my neighbor Brown's yard, and he poisoned them. What I want to know is, can I recover damages?"

"Certainly. It was malicious mischief on his part, besides being a destruction of your property."

"Thanks. But hold! I stated that wrong. It was Brown's hens got into my yard, and it was I who administered the poison."

"Ah, yes; I see. That puts a different color upon the transaction, and it is clear that he, in the person of his hens, was the trespasser, whereas in leaving the poison on your premises you were quite unaware that his fowls would eat it. It was purely an accident, so far as you were concerned."

"Thanks. How much?"

"Thirteen and fourpence."

"Why, that's just twice what you asked for a legal opinion the other day."

"I know it, but, you see, I have given you two opinions today."—London Answers.

That Was the Total.

Old Merchant—Before I answer your request for my daughter's hand, permit me to ask what is your yearly income, sir?

Young Officer—All told, it amounts to £800.

Old Merchant—H'm! To that would be added the interest at 4 per cent on the sum of £20,000, that I intend to give my daughter for her dowry.

Young Officer—Well, the fact is, I have taken the liberty of including that in the calculation just submitted. —London Fun.

"Mr. Maximum."

The result of an examination was put up on the notice board of a well known cramming establishment, and one of the attendants was scanning the list with as much interest as any of the breathless students. At the head of the list was written, "Maximum 500," and when the attendant's eyes rested thereon he exclaimed, "Why, that Mr. Maximum, he's always top, he is."—London Globe.

Lord Russell's Dilemma.

Once, when he first came to London and was laying the foundation of his great career, says a London letter, the future Lord Chief Justice Russell went to the pit of a theater. The piece was popular, the pit was crowded and the young advocate had only standing room. All of a sudden a man at his side cried out that his watch was stolen. Mr. Russell and two other men were hemmed in.

"It is one of you three," cried the man minus the watch.

"Well, we had better go out and be searched," said Mr. Russell, with the alertness of mind that did not fail him at a trying moment amid an excited crowd. A detective was at hand, and the suggestion was accepted. As Mr. Russell walked out the idea flashed through his mind that if the man behind him had the stolen property he would probably try to secrete it in the pocket of his front rank man. Quick as thought he drew his coattails about him—only to feel, to his horror, something large and smooth and round already in his pocket.

While he was still wondering what this might mean for him, the detective energetically seized the hindmost man, exclaiming: "What, you rascal! At it again!" To Mr. Russell and the other man he apologized and bade them go free.

But Mr. Russell, before he had taken many steps, reflected that he could not keep the watch. He went back to the box office and explained, with a courage on which he afterward said he rarely experienced greater demands, that though he did not take the watch he had it. So saying, he put his hand into his pocket and pulled out—a forgotten snuffbox.

The Panama Hat.

"The cheapest straw hat to buy," said a man who owns a beauty, "is, after all, a Panama, like this. Look here." He took down his big white hat, which was creased down the middle like a pair of trousers, and rolled it up tight; then he tossed it in the air. With a cracking sound it spread open and flattered down to the floor in its original shape, deep center crease and all. "You could soak this hat for a week," he continued, "and iron it out flat afterward, but when you came to put it on again it would be just as you see it now.

"Women in Mexico and roundabout all that region make the hats, using straw that has been selected with more care than I could tell you of. The art has been handed down in their families from one generation to another, and it is a secret art, unknown to any other people in the world.

"These women, living so far away from everything, are ignorant of the fashions, and that is why the hats never change their ugly shape. If they were fashionably made, the demand for them would be enormous. As it is, hatters travel through all that country and buy them up at good prices.

"The perfect Panama hat costs at least $30, and if you should pay $50 for a big and unusually light one you would not be getting stuck."—Philadelphia Record.

Turkish Police Justice.

A trifling dispute between a Kurd and an Armenian on a street in Constantinople the other day led to an amusing instance of justice as it is dispensed by the Turkish police.

A tobacco box was found on the pavement, as alleged, by a Kurd. An Armenian claimed the box as his own. Neither would give in, and the dispute waxed warm. From words they were near coming to blows when a policeman came up, but he could not decide the question of ownership.

At last the Armenian suggested that the policeman ask what was in the box.

"Tobacco and cigarette paper," said the Kurd promptly.

"The box contains nothing but 10 piasters," said the Armenian, smiling.

The officer opened the box and, finding the Armenian was right, settled the dispute by giving him the box.

"The Armenian is the owner of the box," he said. "The Kurd is a liar." Here he smote the Kurd over the head. "Allah be praised! For my trouble in deciding this complicated affair I will keep the 10 piastres."

This is the life of the t song of death,
Wreathed with the f try!" with fast fleeting

Night on the roa soldier, you dream,
Visions of little ag in the battle's red gleam!
Just to be kiss
Sweetheart ar and the mud to his hips!
This is the l ones leaning with lips
Far from t ed through the dream and desire—d home hearts and love by the fire!
Mourn or fe of a soldier, to fare
Beating ae tenderness waiting him there.
Of leg
In t the march and the war drums ahead,
, the call to the battle, the tread
ong gone down in the ranks in the van.
o the front, file by file, man by man!
Ah, so valiant, so brave and so true,
nor and glory to yours and to you!

Noon on the field and the battle's fierce heat
Flamed to the faces unfaltered that meet
Death in the flash of the shot and the shell,
The crash of the cannon, the red, roaring hell;
Still 'neath the folds of the flag doth he fight,
True to his country and true to the right!

Night on the hills, and, oh, the wide eyes
Under the shadow and grief of the skies!
Night in the hamlets where broken hearts wait
In vain for the heroes that fought against fate!
This is the life of the soldier—some time

COOLING DRINKS IN TURKEY.

Beverages and Ices Sold on All the Main Streets.

On all the main streets nearly every other shop has a counter of white marble and has bottles of iced water, lemonade, or some berry sirup, pomegranate sirup or something of the sort. Green leaves surround the bottles, and a little maiden keeps up a tinkling of glasses to attract the passersby. Certain shops are known for their specialties in certain sirups and others for their water, about which Turks are very particular and can tell at once from which of the many springs near the capital it comes. The streets swarm with itinerant sellers with elaborate arrangements for keeping the water cold. Some have a regular booth where they dispense anything from water to a gazelle, which is the name for effervescing lemonade.

The simplest method is that adopted by those who carry about a huge glass bottle holding about two gallons of lemonade on the mouth of which is balanced a large lump of ice, continually dripping into the bottle. These drinks are the cheapest, one farthing a tumbler. Unfortunately the coin representing a farthing is almost extinct, so that the drinker has to drink two glasses or come back next day for the balance. The ice cream venders, too, must not be forgotten. Their picturesque get up is very distinctive, and they do a roaring trade. The ices they sell are very pure, and one never hears of cases of illness among those eating them. The time when the men do their best business with Europeans is at night after dinner. Every one is then sitting outside on the terraces or balconies overhanging the Bosporus. The ice man comes along in a boat and seems at once to supply a long felt want.—Constantinople Cor. IMPORTANT!

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.

2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.

3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.

4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

GORMAN TALKS OF THE CHANCES.

Says That Party Men and Those of Moderate Fortunes are Dropping Back Into the Party and the Drift is Towards Bryan.

Washington, Sept 25—Ex-Senator Gorman appears to believe that there is a very fair chance of Bryan's election.

"I do not believe either party has made a canvass which would warrant a conclusion as to the probable result of the election," he said to a reporter today. "It is several weeks before the election and campaigns run more or less in waves. There is a drift—a very decided drift—in favor of the Democrats, which justifies the hope that Bryan will be elected. Political conditions seem much as they were in 1892."

Is it your opinion that the gold Democrats are generally supporting the ticket? was asked.

"The men who are politicians are naturally party men, and the moderate men—that is, those of moderate wealth—are back in the party supporting the ticket. The smaller number of men of great wealth who are at the head of some great corporations and moneyed institutions are not generally coming to the support of Mr. Bryan. The men of moderate fortune, the middle class of business men and those who want to get back into their party are going to give the ticket their support."

"How about the situation in New York?"

"I cannot speak from personal knowledge as to New York. The men who are managing politics for the Democrats in that State say that they are going to carry it. They are sincerely confident. They believe they are going to succeed. The Democratic managers generally feel confident in the general situation and believe that Mr. Bryan is going to be elected. The drift is strongly in that direction."

JAPS WONDERFUL FIGHTERS.

Marvelous in Their Bravery, Both Collectively and Individually.

Lieut. Lawton, in Chicago Times Herald.

"We were astonished at the wonderful marksmanship of the Chinese infantry and artillery, but we were even more astonished at the Japanese trooops, said Lieutenant Lawton. "The Japs are wonderful fighters and are equal to any soldiers that ever shouldered arms. They are marvelous in their bravery, both collectively and individually. The instance where the Japanese officer walked forward without a tremor to the mined gate of Tien-Tsin and fired the mine that blew up the gates and hurled him into eternity is a good example of the spirit that animates even the humblest private in the ranks of their magnificent army.

"The Russians are also magnificent fighters. A little band of twenty-seven of them who remained behind to cover the removal of three of our marines who were wounded were annihilated to a man by the hordes of Chinese, but not one of the Czar's soldiers gave back a step.

"The French are as brave as the best, as are the Germans, and the British grit is too well known to need mention.

"There is one error that has crept into the papers," continued the officer, "that I would like to see corrected. It has been said that the British commander ordered us forward into the trap in which we found ourselves. This is not the case at all; the Americans went forward of their own volition to cover the advance of the Japanese, who were in danger of being wiped out by a galling enfilading fire from the walls. No blame should be attached to the British commander for the losses of the Ninth; in fact, no blame attaches to any one, for the losses were merely the fortune of war."

GLORIOUS NEWS

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help: but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist. Guaranteed.

AN ASHBARREL BIBLE.

Striking Illustration of the Sad Neglect the Sacred Volume Suffers.

A church in New York city acquired its pulpit Bible in a way that was probably never paralleled. During the absence of the pastor, Rev. John B. Shaw, D. D.—as he relates the circumstances in the Presbyterian Banner—certain repairs and additions to the church edifice had included the gift of a handsome new pulpit. But the new Bible, donated as its companion piece, was found to be too large to fit its lectern, or reading-board. The same objection prevented the use of another one, sent by a different donor.

One day a woman came to the doctor with a neat package, which she proceeded to untie. He was not surprised to see a beautifully bound gilt-edged Bible unfolded in her hands; but his feelings changed when she told him that she had found it in an ashbarrel.

A family, after a short residence in the apartment house where she lived, had moved out that morning, and had left their rubbish with the janitor to be carted away in the city garbage wagon. The costly Bible was among this "rubbish." The family record had been cut out of it, being evidently the only thing about it that its owners valued.

The minister took it to his new pulpit, and it has been there ever since. It fitted the bookboard exactly. He wrote out his thoughts about that ashbarrel Bible, two columns of them; but we cannot repeat them here.

There is a sadly pathetic vision of a sacred wedding gift once prized; of resolutions forgotten; of decaying household piety amid a hurried city life and frequent removals; of a birth and death, and their little record; of the final loss of religious faith and all reverence for its symbols. The family Bible meant only so many pounds of paper and leather—a piece of lumber too heavy to carry away.

There is another form of neglect of the Bible, says the Youth's Companion, that appears less rude and disrespectful to the holy volume. It adores its beautiful covers, but does not open them—a kind of fetish-worship of a book that is never read Which neglect is the worse?

WRITING ON THE GROUND.

Jesus Said to Have Written Some of the Leading Sins of the Woman's Accusers.

In the Christliche Welt, of Leipzig, No. 35, Prof. Casper Rene Gregory has published a short but very interesting contribution to the disputed section, John 7:35, to 8:11, the object being not a defense of or an attack on this famous pericope, but rather its interpretation on the basis of peculiar readings found by the author in three different manuscripts, one in Athens, another in Mt. Athos, and a third in Dessau, the additional matter adding great dramatic interest and clearness to the words. In the traditional form of the text Christ is described as stooping over and writing on the ground, which action and His deportment results in the accusers of the woman caught in adultery leaving Him and her, apparently in shame. But what it was in Christ's writing that effected this change in the programme of the Pharisees is not indicated. According to the variants found by Gregory, Christ wrote in the sand some leading sins of the woman's accusers, and he interprets this to signify that as soon as these saw that the Lord knew of the great wrongs they had done, but which they had thought were secret, in the consciousness of their guilt they left Him. These additional words certainly make clear what hitherto had been enigmatical in the text. Gregory has evidently a high opinion of this pericope, even if it is not a part or portion of the canonical Gospel. He thinks that possibly it is older than this Gospel itself, and he closes with these words:

"The scene here described evidently made an indelible impression on the souls of those present. In what manner and when and where this section found its way into the Gospel of St. John, we do not know. But who would be willing to miss it?"—N. Y. Outlook.

Foreign Schools in Athens.

Four foreign countries—Germany, France, England and the United States—now have schools at Athens. The United States school has 13 students and 23 colleges contribute to its support. The school has distinguished itself by its explorations at Corinth, according to the Scientific American. The students go to Corinth vacations, rent a house and pursue their investigations.

Counterfeit Coffee.

Unroasted coffee berries are often made from oat and rye flour and corn meal. The natural aroma of these grains is destroyed by some process, and after the proper amount of coffee aroma is added the berries are formed and caused to maintain their shape.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

WINE OF CARDUI

How a Woman Suffers.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 25.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.
Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues— despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhœa. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

EFFORT.

'Tis not enough to tune the lyre
And wait for harmonies to come.
God sendeth not celestrial fire
When human hearts are cold and numb.

'Tis not enough to calmly wait
That quickening dew should on us fall,
To vaguely long for what is great
While still pursuing what is small.

'Tis not enough with tears of woe
To weep for all the world's distress,
The drops that from inaction flow
Nor us, nor other lives, will bless.

'Tis not enough the love to take
That other hearts on ours outpour;
The soul is only kept awake
By giving something from its store.

'Tis not enough with drooping wing
And aimless feet to walk this earth;
Effort alone can blessing bring
And crown the soul with sov'reign worth.

—Inter Ocean.

A PESKY WHALE.

"THERE'S whales an' whales," said the captain, suddenly. "Some of 'em is pesky critters, an' some ain't so pesky."

Smoke went up in clouds, and there was silence for five minutes.

"Reckon you've got something on your mind, cap," said the doctor.

"Oh, nothin' very partickler," said the captain, "but when whales was introduced it reminded me. I had old Liz up Behring sea way two years ago—old Liz was my ship, her full name bein' Elizabeth J. Barker—an' we'd had a pretty good season. September we put around for the Horn, and, as things happened, didn't see another whale till we struck into the Forties. Then, sir, 'bout 11 o'clock one fine mornin', we doin' about six knots, we raised a whale that was a whale."

"Big, I bet," said the doctor.

"No, not so terrible big," said the captain, "but pesky. I was standin' about 'midships when one of the men sings out: 'Hi, Cap, look at 'er blow.' Sure 'nough, half a mile off and dead abeam to starboard, he was blowin'. He sent up a good spout and then seemed to kinder settle himself, like he was nappin', showin' a good bit of his length. I hove old Liz to, and we put over a couple of boats. Rowin' in the small boat was a Dutchman named Frank. I mention him, 'cause he comes into the yarn pretty prominent. Frank was a good sailor, but one of them fellers that has dreadful little to say. He tended right to business and kept his hatch battened close. Well, as it turned out, the little boat licked the big one and got first whack at the whale. They put a harpoon into him just over his port fin and down he went.

"I stood a-watchin' things through a glass. I waited an' waited for the boat to start off in tow, but she didn't do nothin' but set still, which was puzzlin'. In about five minutes somethin' big an' black broke water 'tween us and the boat, an' there was old blower, not more'n 200 yards from the place he went down. He warn't up long, but enough to git his bearin's, I guess, for down he went again, an' I could see the bow man gettin' ready to give him all the rope he'd take. Then the boat started, slewed a bit an' come dead for the ship at a 40-mile clip. I never see a boat travel so! We watched 'em, an' when she got within a quarter of a mile I thinks to myself: 'This is gittin' blamed interestin'. I wonder is that whale goin' to sheer off or is he goin' to give us a ram? That boat, sir, traveled for us true as a hair, an' I could see the men n her gittin' excited. On she come, throwin' spray like a liner, and I calkilated if she held her course she'd hit s so near 'midships it wouldn't be orth measurin' the difference. Then see the man in the bow make a pass the rope with the hatchet, but he s nervous like, an' missed it, for the hatchet went overboard an' he, losin' his balance, along with it. The rest of the men warn't long decidin' what they'd do. It was go overboard or git smashed to flinders, and when they got within 50 yard of us they all went over but Frank.

"'Jump, you idiot,' yells I 'do you want to git stove?' Mebbe he didn't hear, but I reckon it wouldn't make no difference, for as I'm livin', Doc, that Dutchman lay himself out on his stummick in the bottom of the boat, grabbed a foot cleat with both hands and hung on for dear life. Well, old whale kept steam on. I could see the boat go down a little by the head as she got close to us, an' I knew the rope was scrapin' the ship's keel. We was all holdin' breath and waitin' to see Frank splatter his brains against the ship's side, when the boat went nose down, stern up and under the water with a kerchug. She missed reachin' us by about five yard.'

"All hands aboard ship leant over to see Frank and the splinters come up, for the boat would sure fetch again the keel and go to kindlin' wood. We waited an' waited an' waited, but, by gum, there weren't no splinters an' there wern't no Frank. All of a sudden one of the men sings out: 'By the holy poker, look!' I whipped 'round and there 20 fathoms off our port, was the little whaleboat, full o' water to the gunnel, an' Frank standin' up in her, waist deep, holdin' on to a rowlock for dear life. So help me, Doc, that boat was towed clean under old Liz, the Dutchman in her, an' come up sound on the other side.

"Yes, sir; under the ship as slick as a whistle an' the Dutchman in her. That whale was a scientist, sir. He calkilated all right to lose the boat; but, bless you, it's a bigger job than anyone wanted to tackle to stave that craft, an' as for floatin', she was boxed at each end an' couldn't sink. But that ain't the end of the story. We remembered the fellers that jumped an' we seen the big boat would pick 'em up before we could put another over, so we turned to look at Frank again. There weren't anythin' left in the boat to bail with an' he couldn't do nothin' but wait on the pleasure of that whale. He traveled away from the ship as fast as he come at it, an' he must 'a' gone a third of a mile before the boat slacked. Then we seen her slow down an' come to a dead stop. 'Line's busted,' says I; 'man a boat an' fetch in the Dutchman.' I hadn't no more'n spoke the words when a big wave seemed to rise up near the boat an' old whale blowed 30 foot high. Then he got old Liz in range. Up his tail goes an' he under the water again. I could see Frank wade forrard in the boat an' try to pay out line, but it was jammed, an' before he could make it loose the boat gave a jerk 'round, almost a-throwin' him out, an' come at us again. What I'm sayin's truth, Doc, that boat struck another bee line for us. I suppose, more properly speakin', the whale did. Gosh! How she did come kitin'! Frank quit foolin' with the line an' just hung on. I reckoned the boat was movin' faster'n ever, only she didn't throw so much water, 'cause she set down almost to her rowlocks. We stood speechless while she was drivin' for us. When she got within 100 yards the mate took a big breath and let fly:

"'Jump, you Dutch lubber, or you're a dead man.'

"But he didn't jump, an' I could see him gittin' ready for another dive under old Liz.

"I grabbed up a bucket, climbed on the rail, an' when the boat come near enough I let drive at Frank, hopin' to knock him overboard if I hit him. He seen it comin', dodged, an' just as the boat went tail up again yelled:

"JUMP, YOU IDIOT."

"'I can't swim!'

"Down went the boat like a soundin' lead, an' this time we all slid over to starboard to see her come up. Seven or eight seconds passed, maybe, an' then about 15 fathoms off our beam up come the boat, bottom up! 'Oh, Lord!' groaned the cook, 'he's a goner!' But he warn't. No, sir. The boat hadn't traveled 20 yeard afore she righted, an' we seen Frank's head bob up over the gunnel. Well, old whale didn't run so far this time, for he broke water a few hundred fathom off. In about a minute he sent up a stream of blood. I seen then that the harpoon was a good throw, an' he wasn't goin' to fight long.

"I sent the second boat out after him, but they didn't git far 'fore down goes whale for the third time, an' in a second the little boat slewed again an' we knew he was comin' at us. There warn't no way to make the Dutchman jump, an' there warn't no way to stop the whale, so we just waited again while the little boat made tracks for us like she was goin' to ram. Just when I reckoned by the line out that the whale was passin' under us there was a tremendous bang an' every mother's son was throwed flat. Old Liz rolled to starboard an' then back to port an' lay rockin' while we got up. Reckon you guess what happened, Doc? That whale misealkilated. He laid his course fine as silk, but his elevation was off a couple o' points. He didn't fetch deep enough, an' hit old Liz a welt tha'd like to rip the keel off her. That settled the business, too. We looked over the rail an' seen some bloody water, then a flipper and soon a big black body floated up alongside. There was our whale, sir, dead as a hunk o' salt pork, with the top o' his head half tore off. He was a blue whale, Doc, and he measured close to 62 feet. What become o' the Dutchman? Why, the boat slowed down when the whale rammed us an' the other boat took him off. Hurt? No. He went to work cuttin' up that whale along with the rest of 'em. I did hear afterward that he was grumblin' 'cause 'twas his bucket I throwed at him an' it warn't picked up. Right lively whale, warn't it, Doc?"

"Right lively," repeated the doctor, absently.—Brooklyn Eagle.

THE APPETITE OF A GOAT.

Only 25 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Prosperity Hard to Bear.

There is one hard thing to bear in this world, and that is prosperity. The fact that we do not feel it as a burden does not affect the truth that it is hard to carry it and yet stand upright. To be honest, generous, considerate, fair, magnanimous, in "prosperity"—ah! this is not easy. Yet this is what it means to stand upright. Under a worldly prosperity one is in great danger of getting spiritually stoop-shouldered and weak-kneed. Pray for the prosperous!—S. S. Times.

Their First Quarrel.

"Well," said Mrs. Cornwallis West after they were fairly started on their honeymoon, "we are partners for life now, aren't we, dear?"

"Yes, darling," he replied, "and you are the senior partner, too, aren't—why, lovey, what's the matter? There, there, little girl, don't cry!"—Chicago Times-Herald.

His Blank Despair.

"Speaking of the races, wasn't it the two-mile dash free-for-all that Binks lost all his money on?"

"Yes. Why?"

"Nothing, only I remember he used about a two-mile dash in expressing himself after it was over."—Chicago Tribune.
